Weapon Against Spies

Attorney General Brownell has renewed tion even though the information may not his appeal to Congress for a law permitting the use of evidence obtained by wiretapping in espionage and sabotage cases.

Last year the House passed such a bill, but the Senate failed to act.

In principle, wire-tapping is as contrary to the American system as unreasonable search and seizure without warrant-prohibited by the First Amendment to the Constitution.

Some recent New York cases illustrate the abuse to which this device can be put in the hands of professional snoops.

Yet, wire-tapping is legal in some states, and is used elsewhere to obtain informabe admissible as evidence.

The proposal made by Mr. Brownell, however, does not imply general approval of wiretapping. His proposal is specifically restricted to the war on espionage and sabotage. There has been abundant evidence My America of the dangers of Communist spying and

Some 300 of them got together at Mainz, Germany, recently and had themselves a little talkfest on the problem. They seemed to think it came off real well.

The main conclusion they reached was that Europe, through its convictions and prejudices, thought itself into its present difficulties and should be able to think its way out.

That's one of those disarmingly plausible assertions to which almost anybody would nod agreement until he stopped to analyze it. It is possible to think your way out of a morass,

The "beefing up" measures include atomic weapons; particularly those which would be most effective against troop concentrations, gun positions, airfields and supply dumps.

President Eisenhower authorized the various reinforcements on the basis of detailed recommendations by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. They in turn acted at the behest of Far Eastern commanders. Comeback Theory

Grouse

-by H. G. Heller

Robert S. Dorney, a Pittman-Robertson research biologist, said in the March Wisconsin Conservation Bulletin that grouse in the Badger State are down but they will come back as they always do. He said Michigan has proved it is not necessary to close the season when the population of grouse is low, and claims there is plenty of protection in a reduced harvest. The following is quoted from Dorney's article:

"On October 2, 1954, thousands of partridge hunters took to the (Wisconsin) Woods. A few managed to get two or three birds. but the majority came home empty-handed. What went wrong?

"The spring of '54 was cold and wet. Because of the foul weather many adult hens died trying to raise broods; brood production was poor. Flush counts made just before season showed populations spotted a European freighter that were down about 50 to 60 percent

> "There were local 'hot spots' where good hunting was yet to be found, but these areas were widely scattered. In most places the birds flushed wild, making shooting difficult. Only the veteran hunters stayed in the field; most of the grouse hunters gave

"Did the 1954 open season jee pardize our broodstock for 1955? Will the birds be able to make a comeback? To prepare to get the answers to these important project banded about 260 wild partridges in 1953 and 1954 in parts of three counties. By checking hunters in the banding areas plus use of a reward system, wfound out how many banded birds were shot.

"The chart shows partridges were killed in 1953 when they were abundant, but were practically untouched in 1954 when they were hard to shoot. It is evident, therefore, that the 1954 liberal season did not burt the birds on the study areas since so few were killed. It is likely the lowered success throughout the state led to a similar loss of in terest in hunting grouse.

This same reason probably explains why Michigan was able to have a continuous open season during the lean grouse years from 1945 to 1947 and still have lots of birds by 1949.

"Wisconsin grouse hunters can since a light harvest does not they want to serve more liquor at hurt the birds. If populations reembassy parties. Macpherson Honored By Arizona C.

J. Havard Macpherson, who spends his summers in Monroe County, and whose paintings are shown in the summer Art Shows here, is one of a trio of artists now being honored by the Arizona State College, Tempe, just outside of Phoenix, Arizona.

The artists honored with him are also closely associated with him: his wife, Beatrice Edgerly, and Charles O. Golden.

The three have adjoining studios in Tucson where they founded the Southern Arizona School of Art, in 1941. All three were students at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in 1919, Schedule Meetings and their association dates from that time.

Their paintings are now on display in the Browsing Room of Matthew's Library at the college. Phoenix paper, their work is highly commended.

That is why, when a woman with a bright idea walked into the offices of Exquisite Form to offer her suggestions, the manufacturer immediately saw the common sense of a double feature garment that is actually a sanitary belt in the guise of a garter belt.

The result is a garment that is (1) beautiful to look at and (2) elegant to wear. It is nylonparily fabric, partly net, trimmed with lace and tiny bows. (3)-It is boned ever so lightly at the back to prevent rolling. (4)-It has a selfconforming torso band, assuring smooth, perfect fit, and cannot curl, ride up or slide down. As for the sanitary feature itself-that is carefully out of sight, between layers of nylon and net, but in readiness to be pulled down and used at an instant's notice. With this garment there is no sudden panic wondering what to do because one's belt is at home in the medicine cabinet or dresser drawer.

Your Exquisite Form will wash easily and will always look fresh, clean, dainty, and prettily feminine. There are two styles to choose from-the criss cross panel design and the satin ribbon panel front. Both come in 24, 26, 28, and 30 inch sizes.

Consider this garment, if you are a fastidious woman who can wear a garter belt on occasion rather than a full foundation . . . or if you have a teen age daughter or if you like to wear slacks and jeans month 'round. And remem ber-you find it at Wyckoff's in the corset department.

ANOTHER NEW MOTEL-The building being constructed above is the new 6-unit motel at "Hy" Friedman's Country Villa, Bushkill. Installation of a Koven oil-fired forced hot water baseboard heating system is being handled by the D. Katz & Sons Plumbing & Heating Division, Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg, Baths in all units are finished in ceramic tile and have colored bathroom ensembles, also supplied and installed by the Katz firm. Mr. Friedman is also adding another large building (not shown in the picture) which will house the bar and recreation room. It will adjoin the main hotel. Since the close of last summer's vacation season the Katz firm has completed plumbing and heating installations at 15 regional resorts between Dingmans Ferry and Mt. Pocono. During the past year the Katz firm also handled seven plumbing and heating installations at regional factories, plus numerous private dwellings.

By Hugh Fullerton AUGUSTA, Ga., April 10 (2) --Cary Middlecoff refused to play a waiting game on what he calls a "waiting course" today and won his first Masters Golf tournament by shooting a final round of 70 for a 72-hold total of 279. The tall Tennessean needed only to nurse a four stroke lead through the final round to end the fouryear Masters monopoly of Sam Snead and Ben Hogan, Instead, he played an aggressive round of 34-36-70.

Middlecoff shot rounds of 72, 65, 7s and 70 over the tremendous, 6.950-yard, par 36-36-72 Augusta National course.

He took command of the tournament with a near-record 65 the second day and played almost faultless golf to stay in front the rest of the way.

He finished with a seven stroke margin over Hogan, who had a final round of 73 for a 286 total. Middlecoff's 279 wasn't a Masters record. Hogan set that with 274 two years ago, but it would have tied the record up to that time. And Middlecoff's second yound 65 was the second-best ever ahot in this tournament.

It was after that second round the Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., pro, who gave up a career of filling teeth for one of clouting golf balls, said ters by heating Hogan in last Augusta National was a good year's playoff, came in with 36-34-"walting course," one where the 70 today to finish with 287.

THE GREEN THUMB:

New Weapon For Crabgrass; Use Tin Can To Grow Your Plants; Check On Begonias

CRABGRASS: Last year's dry weather favored the growth of rabgrass more than anything else and we can expect a bumpe crop of this weed again this year. Crabgrass is an annual and the plants are killed by the first frost in the fall. However, before they die they drop thousands of seeds which remain in the lawn all winter only to come up in the spring to plague us. You won't see the weeds until !-

April 21 to May 20 (Equres) — Some cestrictions may be necessary if you among other things, still holds swa amounts, needless errors. Do not become avoided in matters which do not concern you.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — The Fhole day has an appeal of caption.

July 21 to August 22 (Leo) — This day's influences are somewhat negative so if duties are demanding and heavy by valume you may have to use extra-exertion to get things dome. This does not mean straining, however.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgot-Priendly Mercury rays should be helpful in mental work, matters that require analysis, checking for errors. But he careful, nevertheless, not to overdo and don't go too deeply in debt.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—It isn't the things that must be done, but HOW we do them and the attitude we maintain during our efforts that count. Give and take in true Libra fashion—which is innately fair minded.
